PKSOI staffer helps Indiana University ROTC Cadets earn German Proficiency Badge

Recently German LTC (GS) Jürgen Prandtner, Chief International Doctrine, PKSOI, presented members of the Indiana University Reserve Officer Training Corps the German Military Proficiency Badge.

The 28 cadets prepared for three months to accomplish five tests: First aid, NBC-basic skill, physical training (100 m swim with clothes, shuttle-run, flex-arm-hang, 1000 m track run), shooting and a road march.

Prandtner supervised the final tests and said it was a great opportunity to talk with future

US military leaders about military leadership training.

“I was able to explain foreign military and culture aspects and also talk about what the Army War College is doing,” he said.
