

PACOM commander addresses War College class

PACOM commander addresses War College class

*Adm.
Samuel*

Locklear, commander of U.S. Pacific Command, spoke to the Army War College resident class of 2014 Sept. 18 to talk about his responsibilities as the commander of USPACOM as well as the complexities of that theater. He followed his presentation to the students with a round table discussion that included War College leadership and planning staff.