One of the largest Retiree Appreciation Day in the Army will take place at Carlisle Barracks Sat., Oct. 7 from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and many events are scheduled to share important command information briefings for military retirees, family members, survivors, and those who will retire soon.

A special recognition of servicemembers who served during the Vietnam War era will be the highlight of this year's event.

To thank and honor the veterans of the period, special pins will be presented to those who served during this time period, regardless of if they served in Vietnam or not. This event is being held with the three-year national recognition of the 50th anniversary of the Vietnam War. The commemoration is set to begin around 11:30 a.m.
