

All MWR, most USAG services to close for training, team building Sept 21

By Thomas Zimmerman 18 September 2018

All MWR services and facilities will have abbreviated hours on Sept. 21.

Taking care of valued employees, maintaining the safety of children and fostering a cohesive team is driving a one-day closure for the Moore Child Development Center, McConnell Youth Center and Letterkenny Child Development Center and the closure of all other MWR services at 11 a.m. Sept. 21.

The closures will allow MWR employees to complete vital training in the morning and then take part in the Carlisle Barracks organizational day.

Traditionally MWR employees were not able to take part in the event due to being unable to curtail their hours of operation.

“Part of building a cohesive and efficient team is making sure that as many employees as possible can take part in these important types of team-building events,” said Lt. Col. Sally Hannan, Garrison Commander. “This also allows us to recognize these folks who work so hard to serve and support our community.”

The child care facilities closure is part of a new one day a quarter planned closure so employees can complete mandatory training, take part in teambuilding activities and other educational opportunities to stay on the cutting edge of childcare techniques. The planned closures will include all Carlisle Barracks and Letterkenny CDC child care and Youth Services programs, to include before and after school care.

Most U.S.Army Garrison services will be closed as well that afternoon for organizational day. Be sure to call ahead to ensure hours of operation for that day.
