

Colonel Lance D. Oskey is the Chief of Staff of the United States Army War College. He is an Infantry Officer earning his commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in 1993 designated a Distinguished Military Graduate from California University of Pennsylvania.

Before assuming his current position, Col. Oskey served as the Chief of Staff U.S. Army Cadet Command and Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Col. Oskey has served at leadership positions from platoon leader through brigade commander. Oskey commanded 2-54 IN (OSUT) at Fort Benning, and 7th Bde, ROTC at Fort Knox and has deployed twice to Iraq and once to Afghanistan.

In addition to his BA in Business Finance, he has a Master's Degree in International Relations from Troy State, and a Master's Degree in Strategic Studies from the Army War College, Class of 15.

His awards and decorations include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Service Medal (2 OLC), Combat Infantryman's Badge, Expert Infantryman's Badge and Ranger Tab.

COL Oskey is a lifelong Pittsburgh Steelers fan.