Honoring Women's Equality Day

Women's Equality Day at the US Army Heritage & Education Center, 10 am – 3 pm today -- free & open to public -- women's contributions to the Army, looking back through military history with a special display to commemorate Women's Equality Day.

This event will examine three distinct periods of history in which women contributed significantly towards war efforts. Displays featuring uniforms and equipment from the eras of World War I, World War II, and the Vietnam War will be accompanied by living historians representing the WWI-era Salvation Army "Donut Girl," a member of the WWII Women's Army Corps (WAC), and a Vietnam War nurse.
