

New, green upgrades in store for Commissary at Carlisle Barracks

Public Affairs staff reports

New green upgrades in store for Commissary at Carlisle Barracks

August 26, 2010 -- Commissary shoppers will see 'green' in the coming upgrades to key shopping experiences with a remodeled meat upright case lineup, deli/bakery lineup, and an expanded frozen food sales area.

The Defense Commissary Agency announced Aug. 18 that Summit Construction Co, of Lee's Summit, Mo, has been awarded the $3.9 million construction contract for architectural and refrigeration renovation for the commissary at Carlisle Barracks.

The existing sales floor will be removed and replaced; phased work will allow commissary operations to continue during the construction period.

This project will incorporate the use of extensive sustainable and energy saving design features including use of high efficiency lamps, ballasts; lighting controls with daylight sensors. energy star rated equipment, energy conserving night curtains for open display cases, and refrigeration monitoring and control system (RMCS) for refrigeration, HVAC systems, lighting, and utility metering.

Construction is expected to start in October 2010. Completion is targeted for October 2011.