2015 AUSA: Win in a Complex World

Secretary of the Army John McHugh describes the AUSA conference as “a key strategic communication and outreach platform for the Army. One that serves that serves the professional development of the entire Army, to include civilians and family members.”

From October 12 to 14 the AUSA Annual Meeting & Exposition held in Washington D.C. It is one of the largest land warfare expositions and professional development forums in the world. The Annual Meeting consists of informative presentations, panel discussions on pertinent military and national security subjects, workshops and important AUSA business meetings. The three day event also includes over 500 industry and military exhibits occupying over 250,000 net square feet of exhibit space. Presentations on the state of the Army and related defense subjects are given by the Secretary of the Army, the Army Chief of Staff and other senior Army and Department of Defense representatives.

The speakers for ILW’s Contemporary Military Forums and other events at AUSA’s Annual Meeting will be determined in coordination with the office of the Army Chief of Staff. Once the panel leaders have been identified, the composition of each panel will be determined either by the office of the Chief of Staff or by the panel leaders themselves. - See more at:
