The

Cumberland County Department of Public Safety is urging residents to take time this weekend to prepare for Hurricane Sandy. While forecasters are still uncertain of Sandy's path or impact, the potential exists for Cumberland County to see large amounts of rain and high winds.

At Carlisle Barracks, closures, delays and other information can be found by calling the Operations Line at 245-3700 or visiting www.facebook.com/usawc

If this storm tracks into Central Pennsylvania, widespread utility outages are possible. Area utility companies are already busy preparing for potential outages and have auxiliary crews on standby ready to respond. Residents should take the time before the storm to prepare for these outages by stocking their disaster supply kits with items including but not limited to flashlights, water, non-perishable foods, prescription medications, blankets and spare batteries.

The threat of flooding exists with this storm, so residents are also urged to avoid traveling through flooded areas and have an evacuation plan in place if they live in a flood prone area.
