

Dental Clinic Detachment changes responsibility

Dental Clinic Detachment changes responsibility

After 22 years in the Army and more than four years serving the Carlisle Barracks community, Sgt. 1st Class Jason Bowden, Dental Clinic Detachment Sergeant, relinquished his responsibility during a Change of Responsibility Ceremony at the LeTort View Community Center October 15. Staff Sgt. Paul Jones is replacing Bowden as the Detachment Sergeant.

Col. Michael Garvin, Carlisle Barracks Dental Clinic Commander, presided over the ceremony.

“Sgt. Bowden has been my battle buddy and right arm, said Garvin.”

“His tenure has been marked by uncompromising professionalism, selfless service, true mentorship to his subordinates, Soldiers and peers and a magnificent example to his superiors.”

Following the Change of Responsibility, Bowden officially retired from the Army.

“My wife and I felt it was time to move on to the next chapter of our lives,” said Bowden. “I’ll miss working with Soldiers. I felt I've done the most with helping Soldiers progress in their careers.”

Bowden will stay in the dental field, working as a customer consultant at a dental laboratory near Cleveland, OH.

U.S. Army War College Archives - News Article - 16 October 2013