

New general manager at Carlisle Barracks Exchange

New general manager at Carlisle Barracks Exchange

There's a new face within the Carlisle Barracks community, and she has introduced a new movie theater feature. On a trial basis in November, new Exchange manager Stephanie Wilson has introduced Sunday matinees with family-friendly movies, Sundays at 2:30 p.m.

Wilson came to Carlisle from Patrick Air Force Base in Fla., where she was The Exchange store manager there. This is her fourth duty location working for The Exchange. Wilson has worked for The Exchange for more than 10 years, where she started as a college retail trainee in its management training program.

I'm a military brat, Wilson explained. The Exchange is a good combination of retail and military life that has kept me in the community, she said. "Home is wherever I'm at."

Both her father and her husband are retired Soldiers.

I'm looking forward to different Carlisle Barracks community event opportunities, said Wilson. "I enjoy the scenery most, especially the leaves changing color this time of year," she said regarding her new home.

The Sunday movie matinee concept is a response to community requests. The trial program at Reynolds Movie Theater on post will offer matinee movies every Sunday in November. The family-friendly movies will begin at 2:30 p.m.
