Post fitness centers

One of the most economical benefits available to DoD civilians is the ability to use the fitness facilities located on post, including the Root Hall Gymnasium. The free use and location of the facilities draws in many civilians.

Did you know that Thorpe Hall Fitness Center offers many different types of fitness classes, a running track, a third floor activity room, and saunas? Looking for a more "hardcore" workout? Check out the Indian Field Fitness Center with cardio equipment, free weights and more.

There are multiple eateries on post including the Joint Deli in Root Hall, the Strike Zone snack bar at the bowling center, Subway at the Exchange, Café Cumberland at USAHEC and the Joint Pub and Tiki bar (open seasonally) at the LVCC.

It's important to note that benefits are not only limited to the employees themselves. Children and spouses of DoD cardholders may also take advantage of some facilities on post. DoD civilians can use the Youth Services programs and the Child Development Center on post. The wide-ranging YS division includes sports programs and summer camps, and the CDC offers child care with a wide range of options.

Golf Course

Civilian personnel also have the opportunity to use the Carlisle Barracks golf course. All DoD card holders are entitled to use the course and may sign up for tee times one week in advance. The par 72, 18-hole course also features the 19th Hole Snack Bar, a pro shop and a driving range.

However, there are some services on post that civilians are not authorized to use.
