November 6, 2009— Beginning November 21, a Saturday matinee will be shown every other week at Reynolds Theater in addition to the regularly scheduled weekend movies.

During the Oct. 22 garrison town hall meeting residents asked AAFES management if more show times and children's movies could be added to Reynolds Theater's lineup. Management was listening.

Doors will open at 1:30 p.m. every other Saturday for 2 p.m. showings of movies generally geared towards children, Reynolds Theater manager Deb Snouffer said.

"Starting Nov. 21, we will have a 2 p.m. matinee and will have one every other weekend," she said. "We want the matinees geared towards children and will pick up G-rated movies when they are made available."

The movie kicking off the matinee series is Disney and Pixar's "Up," a story about a young adventurer who is whisked away in a flying house he is visiting when the senior citizen home owner decides to uproot his dwelling with helium balloons.

Snouffer said she is hoping AAFES headquarters will send Reynolds Theater more G- and PG-rated movies.

"Our prices are less than outside movie theaters and we try to have enjoyable movies to make a nice atmosphere. Reynolds is convenient for those who live on post and the money generated goes right back into MWR," she said. "We get a lot of R-rated movies, but we have made the recommendations to AAFES headquarters and are hoping to get more children's movies to add to our new matinee times."
