Post chapel hosts Soldiers' Thanksgiving dinner

Staff Sgt. Samuel Wilbert receives a plate-full of stuffing at the Post Chapel during a Thanksgiving meal for the Soldiers of Carlisle Barracks Nov. 25. Volunteers serve Thanksgiving dinner to Soldiers and their families each year.

Guests at the dinner were asked to write down and share with others what they are thankful for this holiday season.

Soldiers, civilians and family members of all ages came out to enjoy the Thanksgiving meal and the company of others.

One volunteer is all smiles as he serves traditional Thanksgiving turkey to visitors at the chapel.
