

Energy tip of the month

Energy tip of the month

Jan. 14, 2009 -- If your home or building has storm windows, make sure the storm window is also closed. The extra air space between the storm window and the inside window adds insulation value and helps prevent air infiltration. This will help your building feel more comfortable and be more energy efficient.