

Dean Lacquement to speak: Dickinson College's Clarke Forum invites public to N. Korea panel

Dean Lacquement to speak: Dickinson College's Clarke Forum invites public to N. Korea panel discussion

Sep. 6, 2017 -- Dean Richard Lacquement joins a panel of experts to address "Breaking Issue: North Korea Today," Thursday, 7 pm at the Clarke Forum for Contemporary Issues on the Dickinson College campus. The Anita Tuviv Schlechter Auditorium is at 208 W. Louthier Street, Carlisle, situated between N. West & N. College streets)

This panel of experts will share their ideas regarding the current North Korean political situation, including such perspectives as the relationship between North Korea and South Korea, tactics to control the nuclear threat, and U.S. policy.

Open to the public, the free event will additionally feature Jina E. Kim, visiting assistant professor of East Asian Studies with a focus on modern Korean history, literature and media; Jeff McCausland, visiting professor of International Security Affairs and former dean of academics at the Army War College; and moderator Douglas Stuart, the Stuart Chair International Studies at Dickinson College and adjunct research professor with the Army War college.

This event is sponsored by the Clarke Forum for Contemporary Issues and co-sponsored by the Dickinson College Departments of Political Science, International Studies and East Asian Studies. See: <http://clarke.dickinson.edu/north-korea-today/>

The Clarke Forum for Contemporary Issues has established a series of programmatic events dedicated to the theme of leadership in an age of uncertainty. This new initiative is grounded on the reality that today's generation of Dickinson students confronts a large number of intractable political, economic, and social problems: terrorism and the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, environmental pollution, global warming, a sustainable energy policy, the ongoing financial crisis, the federal deficit, the amount of public and private debt, the health care crisis, along with issues regarding race, ethnicity, gender, and sexual orientation, as well as technology and privacy.

Other events of note:

Wednesday, September 6, 2017

The Power of Big Social Media Data

H. Andrew Schwartz, Stony Brook University

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Thursday, September 7, 2017

Breaking Issue: North Korea Today

Jina Kim, Dickinson College

Richard Lacquement, U.S. Army War College

Jeff McCausland, Dickinson College

Douglas Stuart, Dickinson College

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, September 12, 2017

Morgan Lecture

The Genocidal Foundation of the United States

Roxanne Dunbar-Ortiz, American historian, writer and feminist

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Monday, September 18, 2017 *

Winfield C. Cook Constitution Day Address

Civil Discourse in an Uncivil Age

Alexander Heffner, journalist, writer and civic educator

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, September 26, 2017

Priestley Award Celebration Lecture

The Good News on Energy, Environment and Our Future

Richard Alley, Pennsylvania State University

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, October 3, 2017

Everything is Connected

Peterson Toscano, theatrical performance activist

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Wednesday, October 4, 2017

Remixing the American Dream

Raquel Cepeda, journalist, critic, filmmaker, autobiographer

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Thursday, October 5, 2017

Republican Politics Today

Reneé Amore, Republican Party of Pennsylvania

Robert Borden '91, House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform

David O'Connell (moderator), Dickinson College

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Thursday, October 19, 2017

Imagining Cuba: Emerging Documentary Filmmaking within Social Change

Damián Sainz, Cuban filmmaker

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Monday, October 23, 2017

Fairness and Accountability in Algorithmic Culture

danah boyd, founder and president, Data & Society

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, October 24, 2017

Contemporary School Segregation

Erica Frankenberg, Pennsylvania State University

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Thursday, October 26, 2017

Wesley Lecture

An Indictment of the United Methodist Anti-Gay Doctrine

Franklyn Schaefer, pastor, activist and author

Stern Center, Great Room, 7 p.m.

Thursday, November 2, 2017

The Vaccine-Autism Controversy

Paul Offit, pediatrician and expert on vaccines, immunology and virology

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Friday, November 3, 2017

The Evolution of Indigenous Food Systems of North America

Sean Sherman, founder, The Sioux Chef

Stern Center, Great Room, 4:30 p.m.

Monday, November 6, 2017

The Opioid Epidemic in Central Pennsylvania

Jack Carroll (moderator), Cumberland-Perry Drug and Alcohol Commission

Carrie DeLone, Geisinger Holy Spirit Medical Group

David Freed, Cumberland County District Attorney's Office

Duane Nieves, Holy Spirit EMS

Kristen Varner, The RASE Project

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Thursday, November 9, 2017

The Shadow of "Fake News"

Jonathan Albright, Columbia University

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Tuesday, November 28, 2017

Using Your Genome and Big Data to Manage Your Health

Michael Snyder, Stanford University

Anita Tuvin Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Thursday, November 30, 2017

An Evening with Solmaz Sharif

Solmaz Sharif, Iranian-American poet

Anita Tuviv Schlechter Auditorium, 7 p.m.

U.S. Army War College Archives - News Article - 06 September 2017