HPCON
Health Protection Condition Levels
Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19)

Department of Defense Public Health Emergency Management policy assigns health protection condition (HPCON) levels to disease outbreaks, such as the spread of COVID-19, based on the severity of the disease and the level of transmission occurring in the local community.

HPCON levels outline specific actions you can take in response to a health threat. While it's always important to prevent the spread of germs, there are additional steps you can take if COVID-19 transmission becomes more widespread in your community. Regardless of the current HPCON level, always follow the guidance from your installation and local public health agencies.

...continue with more to go, bringing big changes along with us to stay home if possible, limit travel, wear masks inside retail businesses, and use social distancing in public.

Carlisle Barracks Isolation and Quarantine policy, effective April 3, 2020, for all Carlisle Barracks tenants, residents, employees, visitors, family members, contractors, and personnel located on the installation. original signed – JOHN S. KEM Major General, U.S. Army Commanding

DEFINITIONS: Isolation: The separation of an individual or group infected or reasonably believed to be infected with a communicable disease and potentially infectious from those who are not infected to prevent spread of the communicable disease. Quarantine: The separation of an individual or group reasonably believed to have been exposed to a communicable disease, but is not yet symptomatic, from others who have not been exposed, to prevent the possible spread of the communicable disease. Social Distancing: Remaining out of congregate settings (crowded public spaces), avoiding mass gatherings, and maintaining distance (approximately 6 feet or 2 meters) from others.

IF SICK: Individuals with symptoms consistent with COVID-19 are urged to contact a healthcare provider in accordance with the latest CDC guidance on COVID19. If a healthcare provider determines you have or are reasonably believed to have COVID-19 and you are able to recover without further medical care, the provider may direct you to isolate at home. You should abide by your healthcare provider's instructions to isolate, which may also include specific instructions to avoid others who are not yet sick, monitor your symptoms, and report information to a public health authority. Your healthcare provider and/or the public health authority will follow appropriate guidelines to let you know when you are released from isolation.

IF EXPOSED: If someone with whom you have had close contact with becomes ill with COVID19 and you are asymptomatic, you should consult with a healthcare provider. You may be directed to quarantine to see if you develop any symptoms and to minimize the chance of further spread of the virus which causes COVID-19. You should expect your quarantine period to typically last 14 days from the last date of close contact with a known COVID-19 patient, but this may depend on the health status of others in your household. During quarantine, you will likely be instructed to not have contact with nonquarantined individuals, and you may be asked to monitor and report any symptoms to a public health authority. Your healthcare provider and/or the public health authority will follow appropriate guidelines to let you know when you are released from quarantine.

AS DIRECTED: There may be other circumstances under which you could be asked to quarantine, as the CDC's guidance on mitigation activities evolves daily. Under current guidance, some of those circumstances include returning from certain cities/states outside the local area, travel to a country with a CDC Level 3 Travel Health Notice, or returning from a cruise. TELEWORK: might still be possible when isolated or in quarantine; contact and update your supervisor, who will offer further guidance.

MILITARY: Servicemembers assigned to an organization at the US Army War College or on Carlisle Barracks will: (1) obey any directives concerning their own isolation or quarantine, (2) self-report those directives concerning isolation, quarantine or release therefrom to their supervisor, and (3) report to their supervisor if anyone in the household has been directed to isolate or quarantine. For purposes of reporting this household status, it is not necessary to provide a specific name or reason for the quarantine. This information would be used to let first responders know to take proper precautions if responding to a call at your house.

Servicemembers who live, but do not work, on Carlisle Barracks will (1) obey any directives concerning their own isolation or quarantine, (2) report those directives concerning isolation, quarantine, release therefrom to the Garrison IOC Hotline at 717245-4934, and (3) report to the Garrison IOC Hotline if anyone in their household has been directed to isolate or quarantine. It is not necessary to provide a specific name or reason for the quarantine.

CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES – Those who work on Carlisle Barracks should report through their supervisors if they have been directed to isolate or quarantine or are subsequently released therefrom. Those who live on Carlisle Barracks but do not work here should call the Garrison IOC Hotline at 717-245-4934 to report that they are in isolation, in quarantine or have been released therefrom.

SELF-REPORTING AND PRIVACY: Information shared between you and a medical provider is protected by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Privacy Rule, which generally prohibits disclosure without your consent. Therefore, I highly encourage civilian community members to self-report if you have been directed to isolate or quarantine. You should know that your self-reported health information is protected under the Privacy Act but may be disclosed to a Department of Defense official or employee who has a need to know.

IT TAKES EVERYONE'S COMMITMENT: As we navigate this pandemic challenge together, I remind all community members, including civilian employees, contractors, residents, family members, and military dependents to follow the Governor's Stay-at-Home Order and to continue social distancing if you must leave your house. I believe these actions are reasonable and necessary to limit the spread of COVID-19, protect the Carlisle Barracks community, and preserve mission capability. Together we can flatten the curve and maintain the health and welfare of our community.

DoD, ARMY NEWS: Secretary of Defense Mark Esper updated guidance to the force, April 20, 2020, extended the Stop-Movement order to June 30: Stop-movement of domestic and international travel -- by DoD Service members and DoD civilian personnel and their dependents whose travel is government-funded.
