

The General as a Statesman: Allied Leadership and Operation Overlord

By Public Affairs Staff 11 April 2019

RELATED ARTICLES

09 Apr 2019

Statesmen Strategists

Kevin Weddle, Garwood Visiting Professor of Politics, is teaching a course called 'General as a Statesman,' which examines the leadership exemplified by Allied generals in WWII. Photo by Princeton University

Kevin Weddle, professor of military theory and strategy at the Army War College, and the Madison Program Garwood Visiting Professor of Politics at Princeton University, is teaching a course called "The General as a Statesman: Allied Leadership and Operation Overlord" for the Department of Politics at Princeton.

For more, see the linked article entitled "Statesmen Strategists" by Julie Clack, and published by Princeton University's Department of Politics on April 9, 2019.

<https://politics.princeton.edu/news/statesmen-strategists>