

Carlisle Barracks to celebrate military kids with series of events

By Thomas Zimmerman 03 April 2018

The U.S. Army observes the Month of the Military Child to recognize and honor the commitment, contributions and sacrifices children and youth make to the nation through the strength they provide the Soldiers and Families.

The U.S. Army observes the Month of the Military Child to recognize and honor the commitment, contributions and sacrifices children and youth make to the nation through the strength they provide the Soldiers and Families.

This year marks the 32nd anniversary of the Department of Defense designating April as Month of the Military Child.

The Army recognizes Month of the Military Child as an opportunity to recognize and respect the unique challenges the military children face and overcome.

The Army remains fully committed to helping Families become and stay strong by offering a variety of programs and services through U.S. Army Installation Management Command. There are more than 215,779 children and youth registered in Child and Youth Services programs. The Army remains committed to these military Family members to honor the service and sacrifices of those who serve the nation.

This year's theme, "Brave Hearts, Resilient Souls," will help the nation understand how important the military children are, no matter where they are stationed. Leadership, garrisons and any appropriate Guard/Reserve locations execute communications efforts and events with communities to show appreciation to Families and inspire future generations.

At Carlisle Barracks the following events are planned:

Family Movie Night- April 13

7 PM, McConnell Youth Center

Movie: Moana

Purple UP Day- April 13

Wear Purple to support military children....They serve too!

Operation Megaphone lock-in April 27-28

7 PM-7 AM

MST Registered Members only, must sign up at McConnell Youth Center.